NO. 3.—SYSTEMATIC RESULTS OF THE STUDY
OF NORTH AMERICAN LAND MAMMALS
DURING THE YEARS 1901 AND 1902.

BY GERRIT S. MILLER, JR., AND JAMES A. G. REHN.

PROGRESS in the study of the North American mammal fauna¹ has been exceptionally rapid during the years 1901 and 1902. So great an advance in this field has probably never before been made in a like period, even during the remarkable activity of the preceding twelve years. Since 1900 there has been published the first general work on North American mammals subsequent to that of Baird; many changes in nomenclature have been found necessary, and the elaboration of material has resulted in the discovery of over 300 forms unknown two years ago.

To present a summary of this work, much of which has been issued in short special articles, is the object of this paper. So far as possible all personal opinion is excluded, and the facts are stated with no other end in view than that of history. While this method entails occasional difficulties and apparent inconsistencies, it is undoubtedly preferable to any attempt at a critical treatment of the subject that could now be made.

A word of explanation in regard to the form adopted. The entries are made in the order followed in our Systematic results of the study of North American land mammals to the close of the year 1900 (Proc. Boston soc. nat. hist., vol. 30, p. 1–352, December 27, 1901). All names recorded there and rejected during the years 1901 and 1902 are printed in italics, followed, except in case of elimination, by the current name. This is in heavy faced type. Additions are entered in the same type as other accepted names, but are numbered.² The system of citation is the same as that in the earlier paper, but duplication of references there published is as far as possible avoided. The members of genera revised since 1900 are entered in the order adopted by the reviser; elsewhere alphabetic sequence has been followed. Except in the case of definitely revised genera, where the author's results are given entire, no attempt is made to record mere changes from binomial to trinomial and the opposite, which involve no actual alteration of names. To the list of additions and changes is appended an annotated bibliography of the papers in which these were made.

² Among these are included three, Odocoileus virginianus, Proechimys centralis panamensis, and Ochotona minimus inadvertently omitted from the original paper.

Genus ODOCOILEUS Rafinesque.

Genus Odocoileus Rafinesque, p. 13, has been replaced by:

1902. Dama ALLEN, Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 18-20. February 1, 1902.

Type.—Dama virginiana RAY = the Virginia deer.

According to Miller (Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 39, March 5, 1902), Slater (Ann. and mag. nat. hist., 7th ser., ix, p. 289-290, April, 1902), and Thomas (Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 198, October 10, 1902) this change is not justified by the character of Zimmermann's work.

17. Odocoileus costaricensis Miller.

1901. Odocoileus costaricensis MILLER, Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xiv, p. 35. April 25, 1901.

TYPE LOCALITY.—Sierra en Media, State of Chihuahua, Mexico.

Odocoileus mexicanus (Gmelin), p. 16. This name is stated by Allen to be untenable, as identification of the Cervus mexicanus of Gmelin is not possible. He therefore replaces it by:

Dama lichtensteini Allen.

1902. Dama lichtensteini ALLEN, Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 20. February 1, 1902.

According to Osgood (Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 87–88, April 25, 1902), the name mexicanus as used by Lichtenstein is tenable for this species, which should be known as:

Odocoileus mexicanus (Lichtenstein).

1827–1834. Cervus mexicanus LICHTENSTEIN, Darstellung neuer oder wenig bekannter Säugethiere, pl. xviii and accompanying text.

TYPE LOCALITY.—Valley of Mexico (see Osgood, Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 88, April 25, 1902).

1902. Odocoileus rothschildi THOMAS, Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 198. October 10, 1902.

TYPE LOCALITY.—Coiba Island, off west coast of Panama.

Odocoileus americanus (Erxleben), p. 14. Both Allen (Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 19, February 1, 1902) and Osgood (Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 87, April 25, 1902) have urged the untenability of this specific name. If this view be adopted the species will stand as:

Odocoileus virginianus (Boddaert).

1784. [Cervus] virginianus BODDAERT, Elenchus animalium, p. 136.

1898. O[docoileus] virginianus MERRIAM, Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xii, p. 100. April 30, 1898.

20. Odocoileus virginianus louisianae G. M. Allen.

1901. Odocoelus (sic) virginianus louisianae G. M. ALLEN, Amer. nat., xxxv, p. 449. June, 1901.

TYPE LOCALITY.—Mer Rouge, Morehouse Parish, Louisiana.

21. Odocoileus virginutis (Hallock).

1899. Cariacus virginutis HALLOCK, Forest and stream, lii, p. 404. May 27, 1899.

TYPE LOCALITY.—Northwestern Minnesota and adjoining British provinces.

Genus MAZAMA Rafinesque.

1902. Cervus roosevelti NELSON, Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 10. January 16, 1902.

TYPE LOCALITY.—Mt. Elaine (on ridge between heads of Hoh, Elwah, and Soleduc Rivers), near Mt. Olympus, Clallam County, Washington.

Genus Alces Jardine, p. 18. As this name is antedated by the Alce of Blumenbach (Handbuch der Naturgeschichte, 6th ed., p. 697, 1799), applied to another genus of Cervidae, it has been changed to:

Genus PARALCES Allen.

1902. Paralces ALLEN, Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 160. July 1, 1902. Type.—Cervus alces LINNAEUS.

According to Thomas (Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 197, October 10, 1902) this change is unnecessary. If it be accepted the two American species will stand as follows:

Paralces americanus (Clinton).

1822. Cervus americanus CLINTON, Letters on nat. hist. and int. resources of New York, p. 193.
 1902. Alces americanus OSGOOD, Proc. biol. soc. Washington, xv, p. 87. April 25, 1902.

 TYPE LOCALITY.—Northern New York.

1902. Paralces gigas ALLEN, Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 160. July 1, 1902.

Genus RANGIFER Hamilton Smith.

Rangifer dawsoni Séton-Thompson, p. 19. According to Osgood (North Amer. fauna, no. 21, p. 26, September 26, 1901) no caribou occur on the Queen Charlotte Islands, and this animal is in reality Rangifer arcticus (Richardson).

25. Rangifer granti Allen.

1902. Rangifer granti ALLEN, Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 122. March 31, 1902.

Genus OVIS Linnaeus.

Ovis canadensis Shaw, p. 22. According to Elliot (Field Columbian mus., publication 45, zool. ser., II, p. 46, March, 1901) the publication of this name in the year 1804 is so questionable that the animal should be known as:

Ovis cervina Desmarest.

1804. Ovis cervina DESMAREST, Nouv. dict. d'hist. nat., xxiv,
 p. 5.
 TYPE LOCALITY.—Mountains of Alberta, Canada.

Hornaday (Fifth annual report of the New York zool. soc., p. 101, June 1, 1901) rejects both of these names and adopts:

Agrees with Allen (Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, pp. 162 and 168, July 1, 1902) that Notophorus should be considered a synonym of Tayassu. Regards the renaming of Alces (Allen, Bull. Amer. mus. nat. hist., xvi, p. 159, July 1, 1902) as unnecessary, but would restrict the application of the "one-letter rule" to generic names. The name Dama not valid for the Virginia deer. Nyctimene Bechstein antedates Cephalotes Geoffroy.
